乒乓還是戰爭?

Ping Pong or Nuclear War?

Characters

Hacker (of unknown nationality)- Meredith

Hacker's Mother- Meredith

Chinese National Ping-Pong Team Captain- Alexandra

North Korean National Ping-Pong Team Captain- Johnny

Scene One

We will have two individuals talking to each other through video chat. One is the leader of the Chinese national ping-pong team and one is the leader of the North Koreans national ping-pong team. North Korea and China are attempting to determine who will host the next annual international ping pong tournament. North Korea wants to host it because they say that they believe they are ready to show the world how wonderful their country is. China says that they should be the host instead. They have already hosted the Olympics and they have the billions of people that will come to the tournament. North Korea accuses China of cheating (they have won 60% of all matches since the 1960s). Things get heated and just when China tells North Korea that they have to host it or else there will not be a tournament this year, the video cuts out. On North Korea's computer screen comes up a little message from a computer hacker who has taken over the internet connection.

Scene Two

North Korea starts freaking out about the loss of the computer connection and the message from the hacker on the screen. Korea is then offended because they think that China did this on purpose to offend them. Korea starts thinking about possible repercussions and reactions that they can take. One of them is nuclear retaliation!

Scene Three

The hacker gets bored with the hacking and restores the connection between North Korea and China. The video call comes back up and North Korea is still freaking out, threatening nuclear war and such. China apologizes and they eventually determine that the location should be a neutral country: Norway. They end on a positive note, without the need for nuclear attacks on each other. Both reflect that they are happy with the results but that they plan to push harder for the tournament to be in their home countries in the following year.

Scene One, English Only

[[North Korean tournament coach uses video chat]]

N: You have won 60% of all Championships, it isn't fair. We should host so that we can make sure you don't cheat.

[[Chinese tournament coach also uses video chat]]

C: We don't cheat, we just practice a lot. We have a great love of ping pong.

N: We have a great love of ping pong as well.

C: We have hosted the Olympics. We know how to do it. Why do you want to do it?

N: We North Koreans are ready to show the world our accomplishments.
C: The tournament should be here in China because thousands of Chinese will come to our matches.
N: We can host teams from other countries. North Koreans can be great hosts!
C: With all due respect to Korea, we are not sure you are ready to take on such a big event.
N: Why not?
C: Um... your country does not have the money to pay this.
N: And your country has the money?
C: China...
